The Master of Teaching (Primary) is a Teacher Education Student education program, designed to meet the National Professional Standards for Teachers – professional knowledge, professional practice and professional engagement at graduate teacher level, equipping them for provisional registration as generalist teachers Prep to Year 6.

The course builds on the College’s established expertise in producing graduates who embody integrity, professional knowledge, and social skills, making a positive contribution to society. It develops the professional skills necessary to teach the full range of primary curriculum and trains students in how to engage with communities of practice for ongoing support throughout their careers.

The Master of Teaching (Primary) provides a core of pedagogy in each of the Key Learning Areas (KLAs) and professional experience, while allowing students to explore areas of interest through an elective component. The independent action research in this program equips graduates to undertake ongoing action research in their place of employment, thus improving their own teaching skills and contributing to the field. In addition to developing skills in critical thinking, problem-solving, teamwork, and communication skills, the graduates will be equipped with advanced knowledge of theory in the full range of primary curriculum to equip them for classroom teaching.

Graduate Pathways

Students who have successfully completed the Master of Teaching (Primary) may progress into the postgraduate courses of study at AC:

- Master of Philosophy*
- Doctor of Philosophy*

Direct entry into these pathways is not guaranteed. Graduates are advised to contact the Student Support Team further information on the eligibility requirements for these courses of study.*

Career Opportunities

Graduates of the Master of Teaching (Primary) may find employment in schools (faith-based, government and non-government schools), not-for-profit and mission-focused organisations, community service-orientated positions, and positions that require research skills and critical thinking. Additionally, graduates may progress further along the pathway toward Level 8 and 9 (postgraduate studies) upon completion of the Master of Teaching (Primary).

Work-Integrated Learning

Work-Integrated Learning must be undertaken the college co-ordinated School Professional Placements. These subjects seek to create a direct linkage between the learning, skills and values engaged in lectures, and the reflection which occurs when these are applied in real-life settings. These work-based training subjects comprise of mentoring and academic assessment in a workplace.

To qualify for the award of the degree of Master of Teaching (Primary), all Teacher Education Student will complete this subject which is conducted over three semesters (recommended: 2nd, 3rd, 4th Semesters). Organisation and placement under EDU500 Professional Experience (10 credit points) will be conducted by the Professional Experience Co-ordinator.

In addition, the Teacher Education Student, once admitted into the course, may apply for a Clinical Teaching Module (CTM) placement. This is a mode of study that places the student, typically one day a week in a host school under a Host Coach(es), where they can practice their new skills and understanding without the pressures of assessment. They are encouraged to seek modifications to many of their subject assignments for their CTM context and so create synergy with their CTM commitment and their academic study.

For further information related to Work-Integrated Learning please see the Professional Practice Handbook on Moodle or contact our Student Support team.

Essential Requirements

Pre-Admission Interview

The Program Director conducts a pre-admission interview (either face-to-face or phone or via Skype) with all academically eligible applicants. This interview aims to assess the key capabilities associated with successful teaching.

Computer literacy and internet access

AC students require access to computer and internet facilities, as written assignments are submitted online in typescript with some assignments requiring database and internet research.

Literacy and Numeracy Test

AC students are required to sit for and pass the Literacy and Numeracy Test for Initial Teacher Education Students (LANTITE) prior to their final Professional Experience Placement.

Working with Children Check

AC students are required to complete the Working with Children Check online. You are classified a 'volunteer' in Education. Submit application online and also print a copy and upload as an attachment to your application.

Anaphylaxis Training for Initial Teacher Education Students

Training is provided free online by the Australian Society of Clinical Immunology and Allergy (ASCIA) <http://etraining.allergy.org.au/> On completion of the online module participants receive a certificate of completion which must be immediately forwarded to the Program Director, Master of Teaching (Primary). The training is required to be successfully undertaken every two years. This is the only training for anaphylaxis management in schools that New South Wales Education Standards Authority (NES) will accept.

First Aid

All students completing EDU511 Personal Development, Physical & Health Education are required to complete a recognised First Aid Course. This course deals with the cause and prevention of accidents, the acquisition of sufficient knowledge to determine the nature and extent of injury, and sufficient skill to administer proper first aid.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander People

A student's admission requirements may be reconsidered on educational disadvantage grounds if the applicant is of Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander descent and where the normal HSC entry path has not been followed. These Special Admission Pathways are evaluated on a case-by-case basis by the Program Director. For HE students, the Program Director's recommendation is then tabled for approval to the Admissions Committee.

Australian Professional Standards for Teachers

The Australian Professional Standards for Teachers. The GTSDs are a public statement of what constitutes teacher quality. They define the work of teachers and make explicit the elements of high-quality, effective teaching in 21st century schools that will improve educational outcomes for students. All graduates are required to demonstrate the GTSDs in their final Professional Experience.

There are Seven Standards required at four levels, Graduate, Proficient, Highly Accomplished and Lead. Our program graduates must reach Graduate Level across all Seven Standards.

Australian Professional Standards for Teachers

1. Know students and how they learn
2. Know the content and how to teach it
3. Plan and implement effective teaching and learning
4. Create and maintain supportive and safe learning environments
5. Assess, provide feedback and report on student learning
6. Engage in professional learning
7. Engage professionally with colleagues, parents/carers and the community

The Seven Pedagogical Principles (see below) have been mapped against each component in the Seven GTSD.

For more detail read the program standards of the Australian Institute for Teaching and School Leadership \(AITSL\) and the requirements set by the New South Wales Education Standards Authority \(NESA\).

SEVEN PEDAGOGICAL PRINCIPLES

Principle	Definition	GTSD
1 CONTEXT	The premise is that most learning occurs naturally embedded within a context which is obvious/ explicit to the learner. It is much easier to learn and practice the subskills when you have an idea of the big picture or can see the relevance of where the learning fits. Learning that has a 'real world' application is no longer seen as appropriate for the delivery of isolated skills lessons devoid of any obvious context.	1.1.1 1.3.1 1.4.1 2.4.1
2 INTEREST	The learner has to connect the new information with what they already know. Bickmore- Brand's (1993) example illustrates this well: a seven-year-old child was questioned after an exemplary lesson teaching him the concept of 'volume' using concrete materials such as sand trays and water containers. When asked what 'volume' meant he replied "It's the knob on your radio which makes the noise louder". A teacher using the pupil's own language initially and building the new vocabulary onto that base will enable that learner to take on board the new ideas as part of their personal knowledge.	1.1.1 1.3.1 1.4.1 1.6.1 2.4.1 3.4.1 3.5.1
3 MODELLING	The 'Modelling' Principle refers to the influence people whom we admire can have over us when we try to take on board their knowledge, skills, values and/or culture. Observation of children's efforts to imitate their peers, sporting or media personalities clearly reinforces what a powerful learning tool this can be.	3.3.1 3.4.1 4.1.1 4.5.1 5.3.1 6.2.1 6.3.1 7.1.1 7.3.1

Principle	Definition	GTSD
4 SCAFFOLDING	The premise behind the ‘Scaffolding’ Principle is to provide enough support to stretch the learner to the next stage of development. There is no expectation that the learners will become independent without assistance.	1.2.1 1.5.1 1.6.1 2.1.1 2.2.1 2.3.1 2.5.1 2.6.1 3.3.1 4.1.1 4.2.1 5.1.1 5.2.1 5.4.1 7.2.1
5 METACOGNITION	Metacognition is concerned with the ability to be reflexively aware of one’s own thinking processes. Have you ever noticed (when faced with a difficult problem) that you resort to directing yourself out aloud, or you talk it out with others, so that you’re in a position to assess the reasonableness of your decisions? This principle promotes the learners’ awareness, consideration, and control of their own cognitive processes and approaches is becoming critical as learners face the onslaught of information technology and access to the creation of knowledge (Wilson, Wing Jan, 2008). The brain is not merely a receptor or empty vessel but a processor, and is constantly involved in internal regulation.	1.2.1 2.2.1 2.3.1 2.5.1 2.6.1 3.2.1 3.3.1 3.6.1 4.2.1 4.5.1 5.2.1 5.4.1 6.4.1

Principle	Definition	GTSD
6 RESPONSIBILITY	It is a widespread complaint in Western societies that contemporary youth do not take responsibility for their own actions: accordingly, the acquisition of responsible learning has become a key platform for many education programs. Values Education has been an attempt to redress this as an overarching theme across all subject areas. Helping learners to take control of their learning through a gradual release of responsibility lies at the core of teaching (Meichenbaum, D. & Biemiller, A. 1998). Dreikurs, Grunwell, and Peppers (1982) and Glasser (1992) focus on the nexus between ‘rights’ and ‘responsibilities’ with pupils being aware of the consequences of the decisions they are making. Glasser rejects the notion of coercion, however, and encourages pupils to commit themselves to alternative forms of behaviour.	3.1.1 3.3.1 3.7.1 4.3.1 4.4.1 5.5.1 6.4.1
7 COMMUNITY	Studies done of students’ engagement as fully participating members of their learning communities frequently identify ‘acceptance’ (Pudlas, 2003, Marsh, 1988) as a constant variable. A learning community is a way of describing the classroom relationship that incorporates understanding, trust, openness, inclusion, honesty, acceptance, and unconditional love.	1.6.1 3.7.1 4.4.1 5.1.1 5.5.1 6.1.1 6.3.1 6.4.1 7.1.1 7.3.1 7.4.1
